The RoHS and WEEE DIRECTIVES

STATEMENT OF COMPLIANCE

The European Parliament established restrictions on the use of certain hazardous substances in electrical and electronic equipment with Directive 2002/95/EC, commonly known as the RoHS (Restriction of Hazardous Substances) with an implementation deadline of July 1, 2006. This directive seeks to limit or eliminate substances dangerous to the environment and to people which appear in electronic and electric parts and equipment. These substances create pollution and expose manufacturer employees and recyclers to health dangers. All CognitiveTPG Products shipped on or after July 1, 2006 shall be compliant with European Directive 2002/95/EC.

All current CognitiveTPG Products shipping to the European Union are also compliant with the European Directive 2002/96/EC, also known as WEEE or Waste Electrical and Electronic Equipment. Notwithstanding, CognitiveTPG remains committed to following the RoHS and WEEE guidelines set by the EU with current and future products. All CognitiveTPG products will continue to carry the Declaration of Conformity and CE label.
